

WAR NEWS.

GREAT REJOICING OVER MAFEKING.

No Official Confirmation yet of the Relief. Kruger Reported to have again Sued for Peace. Many Boers are Surrendering. Reported that Entire Boer Force at Mafeking was Captured. Another Canadian dead. Buller Moving on the Passes.

Winnipeg, May 19, '00. London, May 19: As the result of the news of the relief of Mafeking on May 16th, London's millions spent half the night in the streets, and even at 4 o'clock this morning troops of young men were promading, singing and cheering and there were crowds in front of the Mansion House, Marlborough House, the club on Pall-Mall, war office and in parliament square, waving flags and joining in singing national airs. No details have been received yet. This sustained bellowing and uproar from hundreds of thousands of throats amazes Englishmen who cease for the moment to be actors and become merely observers. Sober, phlegmatic London is beside itself with emotion. Gushes of patriotism have set the town quivering twice or thrice before in war, but nothing has equalled to-night's hundreds of square miles of almost furor demonstrations. It was curious for an onlooker to see solemn, gray-haired men throw their opera hats into the air and join in hurrahing and cheers when a wreath crowned banner with a portrait of Col. Baden-Powell on it was borne along Piccadilly. Smart women in broughams waved. Union Jacks from windows and conventional family parties stopped at street corners to take part in singing "God Save the Queen" and "Soldiers of the Queen."

Everywhere was good feeling and an astounding roar of human voices.

London fire insurance laws make fire works impossible and this city lacked the blaze of illumination which characterizes American cities in similar rejoicing. The Britisher therefore relies upon his lung power and from St. Paul's Cathedral to Westminster Abbey, and up through Piccadilly to Hyde Park, a Niagara-like roar was incessantly rising and falling, hour after hour, as surging masses poured through London's thoroughfares like processions on an American presidential election. At Carlton Hotel, which is filled with American heads, played "Marching Through Georgia," which has been recently adapted to an English song entitled "Marching to Pretoria." "Dixie" and other American airs were also played. Ten thousand people stood in front of Mrs. Baden-Powell's house, cheering and singing and a score of cabs brought her congratulations.

Miss Baden-Powell, Colonel's sister, said: "The same tale has been brought us many times during the last anxious months. The war office promised us the earliest information. We only hope it is true."

London, May 18: Continental cities as press telegrams abundantly testify, received the news sadly of the relief of Mafeking. From mention of "Laager" in a Pretoria despatch it is understood here that prior to the raising of the siege of Mafeking, Boer's laagers around that place were bombarded vigorously by the British relief column and burghers were practically compelled to abandon siege.

Winnipeg, May 21. London, May 21: Displayed in its most conspicuous style the Express as its dominant war news this morning says:

"We have the best reason for stating that in the last 24 hours a telegram has been received at the foreign office addressed personally to the Prime Minister from President Kruger proposing term of peace. The exact terms of the message cannot be stated but we believe it is couched in an exceedingly humble strain. It is inconceivable, of course, that Lord Salisbury can have sent any reply except the one that stands ready on the lip of every British; Unconditional surrender."

A dispatch from Kroonstad says that Commandant Dewet has sent word to Roberts that he is prepared to surrender conditionally, with his entire command. Commander in chief also reports that a field cornet and eighty six burghers have surrendered at Baschof. De Wet, when working about Wepener, had an army of several thousand men. His submission to the British would practically wipe out the main part of the Free State forces as a factor in war, leaving only the Transvaalers and a few straggling Free Staters to continue the struggle.

London, May 21: The boisterous rejoicings over news from Mafeking became riots in parts of London, Aberdeen, Belfast and elsewhere, in United Kingdom. In the Finchley district, suburban London, mobs stoned the railway stationmaster's house and smashed windows of a drapers' shop setting the building on fire also, although whether by accident or design is not yet known. Two clerks were injured. Houses of Boer sympathizers at Harlesden were attacked by large crowds and windows were smashed. The police charged the mob and were greeted with a shower of decaying eggs. Numerous arrests were made by the police and the reserves were called out. Riots occurred at Aberdeen from 7 to 10 on Saturday evening around the Hall where a "stop the war" meeting was being addressed by Crowright, Schriener, husband of Olive Schriener. Several arrests were made and finally the chief magistrate ordered the chief constable to call out the military. The Gordon Highlanders from the Castle barracks then cleared the streets.

At Baschof yesterday while at Hoopstad Lord Methuen secured 250 rifles and between 400,000 and 500,000 rounds of ammunition.

The war office has announced that no official information as to relief of Mafeking. The following is the text of Lord Roberts' despatch: "Kroonstad. No official information has as yet been received, but Reuter says that the relief of Mafeking has been effected." Gen. Buller reports having occupied Bresla's Flat, Trommel and Cloacan, the enemy falling back on Senokai and Ploksburg. Fifty rebels and 4,000 rounds of ammunition were surrendered by the Free Staters to a British battalion of yeomanry who are working along the telegraph line from Baschof to Bloemfontein. A field cornet and eighty-six burghers surrendered.

London, May 21st: A despatch to the Daily Mail from Lorenzo Marquez, dated Sunday, says on Thursday the entire Boer force around Mafeking, including guns were captured by the British.

Hamilton, May 21st: Major J. E. O'Reilly, master in chancery, received a private telegram to-day from South Africa, concurring with him on the death of his son, Patrick O'Reilly. This was the first intimation received here of the death. O'Reilly, who was a member of E. Battery, was living in Toronto at the time he enlisted. The deceased soldier, who was about 23 years of age, was one of Hamilton's most popular young men and when living he took an active part in cricket and other sports.

London, May 21st: A despatch from Cape Town says the relief column as it approached Mafeking from the south was attacked by a strong force of Boers who were repulsed. The column then pushed on and the Boers retreated hurriedly. The rear guard continued in action for some time. The British casualties were slight.

Another Cape Town account of the relief column says it consisted of 2,000 men of the South African Light Horse, Imperial Yeomanry and Kimberley Horse. It left Kimberley on May 4th with thirty-five wagons containing stores and ammunition, and four guns of the Horse Artillery and two Maxim, and moved west along the railway without meeting opposition. At Kraai Pan the Boers fell back when attacked.

Cape Town, May 20th: The Cape Argus says that eighty of Bluff's patrol were killed and that the Irish-American brigade was greatly cut up at Kroonstad. The Boers are turning against them.

Buller's brigades are moving on mountain passes. Lord Dundonald has occupied the country near Laing's Nek. Rundle has occupied Cloacan.

A field cornet and 56 men have surrendered to Methuen at Baschof.

Commandant De Wet and 1,000 men around Kroonstad have offered to surrender.

The Boers have officially announced their decision to defend Johannesburg.

INFORMATION FOR SETTLERS.

The Canadian Pacific railway company have issued a "Settlers' Guide" containing much information regarding Manitoba and the Northwest Territories. The following paragraphs from the pamphlet will be found of special value to prospective settlers.

The rates in this tariff are subject to the general notices and conditions of carriage printed in the company's form of shipping receipt.

Carloads of settlers effects, within the meaning of this tariff, may be made up of the following - described property for the benefit of actual settlers, viz: Live stock, any number up to but not exceeding ten (10) head, all told, viz: Cattle, calves, sheep, hogs, mules or horses; Household goods and personal property (second-hand); Wagons, or other vehicles for personal use (second-hand); Farm machinery, implements and tools (all second-hand); lumber and shingles, which must not exceed 2,500 feet in all, or the equivalent thereof; or in lieu of, or in addition to, the lumber and shingles, a portable house may be shipped; seed grain, small quantity of trees or shrubbery; small lot live poultry or pet animals; and sufficient feed for the live stock while on the journey.

Should the allotted number of live stock be exceeded, the additional animals will be charged for at proportionate rates over and above the carload rate for the settlers' effects, but the total charge for any one such car will not exceed the regular rate for a straight carload of live stock.

One man will be passed free in charge of live stock when forming part of carloads, to feed, water and care for them in transit. Agents will use the usual form of live stock contract.

Less than carloads will be understood to mean only household goods (second-hand), wagons or other vehicles for personal use (second-hand) and (second-hand) farm machinery, implements and tools. Less than carload lots must be plainly addressed. Settlers' effects rates, however, will not apply on shipments of second-hand wagons, buggies, farm machinery, implements or tools, unless accompanied by household goods. Minimum charge on any shipment will be 100 lbs. at regular first class rate.

Merchandise, such as groceries, provisions, hardware, etc., and implements, machinery, vehicles, etc., if new, will not be regarded as settlers' effects, and, if shipped, will be charged the regular classified tariff rates. Agents, both at loading and delivering stations, are, therefore, strictly enjoined to give their personal attention to the preventing of the loading of contraband articles, and to see that the actual weights are way-billed when carloads exceed 24,000 lbs. Agents must not permit, under any circumstances, any article to be loaded on the top of box or stock cars; such manner of loading is dangerous and is absolutely forbidden.

Settlers' effects to be entitled to the carload rates, cannot be stopped at any point short of destination for the purpose of unloading part. The entire carload must go through to the station to which originally consigned.

The carload rates on settlers' effects apply on any shipment occupying a car, and weighing 24,000 lbs., or less. If the carload weighs over 24,000 lbs. the additional weight will be charged for at rates shown.

Colonist cars are attached to each "settlers' special" and also to the regular express leaving Toronto at 2 p. m. for the West.

Meals may be secured at points along the line, at which frequent stops are made.

Personal baggage to the weight of 300 lbs. may be checked.

The second class fare from points in Ontario to Edmonton is $11.25; freight rates for carloads 61.50 per 100 lbs. and for lots less than carloads, $1.23 per 100 lbs.

Any even-numbered section of Dominion lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories, excepting Nos. 8 and 26, which has not been homesteaded, reserved to provide wood lots for settlers, or other purposes, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over eighteen years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or, if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the minister of interior, Ottawa, the commissioner of Dominion lands, Ottawa, W. F. McCreary, Dominion migration commissioner, Winnipeg, or any local agent, receive authority for some one to make the entry for him. A fee of $10 is charged for an ordinary homestead entry; but for lands which have been occupied an additional fee of $5, and in some cases $10, is chargeable to meet inspection and cancellation expenses.

The entry must be perfected within six months of its date by the settler beginning to reside upon and cultivate the land, unless entry is obtained after the 1st of September, in which case it need not be perfected before the 1st day of June following.

After perfecting his homestead entry as described, the settler must continue to reside upon and cultivate the land for which he holds entry for three years from the date thereof, during which period he may not be absent from the land for more than six months in any one year without forfeiting the entry.

Upon furnishing proof, which must be satisfactory to the commissioner of Dominion lands, that he has fulfilled the conditions as to residence and cultivation before specified, the settler will be entitled to a patent from the crown for his homestead, provided he is a British subject by birth or naturalization.

If the homesteader desires to obtain his patent within a shorter period than three years, he will be permitted to purchase his homestead at the government price ruling at the time, upon proof that he has resided thereon for twelve months from the date of perfecting entry, and that he has brought at least thirty acres under cultivation.

Application for patent may be made before the local agent, sub-agent, or any homestead inspector. Before making application for patent, the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the commissioner of Dominion lands, Ottawa, of his intention to do so. When, for convenience of settler, application for patent is made before a homestead inspector, a fee of $5 is chargeable; no fee, however, being charged if the application be made at the land office. Application for patent must be made within five years from the date of the homestead entry, otherwise the right thereto is liable to forfeiture.

Dominion land offices are located at Winnipeg, Brandon, Minnedosa, Dauphin, Estevan, Regina, Yorkton, Lethbridge, Calgary, Red Deer, Edmonton, Battleford and Prince Albert.

A liberal supply of timber for house-building purposes and fuel is granted free to settlers on payment of a small office fee for the permit to cut.

For full information as to conditions of tender, and sale of timber, coal or other mineral lands, apply to the secretary of the department of the interior, Ottawa, Ontario; or to any of the Dominion land agents for Manitoba or the Northwest Territories.

The following paragraph, descriptive of Alberta, while its remarks on climate are true only of Southern Alberta, sets forth the industrial opportunities of the district.

"Alberta is situated immediately east of the Rocky Mountains and north of the International boundary, covering an area of about 120,000 miles. It is characterized by a mild climate in winter and cool breezes in summer. Situated as it is, it has the benefit in winter of the chinook winds, which follow a northerly direction from the current in the southern Pacific Ocean, whence they receive their warmth. The snow in winter rarely lies longer than four or five days, when it is melted by this wind, thus making the winters mild and filling the creeks and ponds with water for the stock on the ranches. In the summer these creeks are constantly supplied with water from the melting snow in the mountains, so that during summer and winter there is always to be found throughout the province an abundance of water for grazing and all other purposes.

"The wild grasses of the district are most nutritious, as has been demonstrated by the thousands of cattle old from the different ranches all in first class condition for the market, and it is a fact that, even in the spring, cattle which have not received any feed except what they got by grazing are brought in from the ranches as fat as stall-fed cattle in the eastern provinces.

"The surplus cattle raised in the Edmonton district are shipped to British Columbia and to the European markets via Montreal.

"The recent erection of extensive coal and flour mills at Edmonton has created an excellent home market for wheat and oats.

"The cool temperature in summer, with the grasses and pure cool mountain streams mentioned, make Alberta one of the best countries to be found for cheese and butter making, and it is rapidly becoming as noted for such industries as for its ranches.

"There is a local lumber supply at Edmonton, but the finer grades are obtained from British Columbia."

The total number of fatal accidents on railways and in connection with canals in Canada last year was 284.

Although the work of construction and enlargement of the chain of canals on the St. Lawrence river are not fully completed, they are in that advanced stage which enables vessels drawing 14 feet of water, to pass between Port Arthur, at the head of Lake Superior, and Montreal.

WAR NOTES.

Roberts' Activity.
While Lord Roberts' infantry are concentrating at Kromstad, where they will rest for a day or two, his horsemen have penetrated 13 miles northward. In the squadron which cut the railway 15 miles beyond Kromstad was the American scout Frederick Buckingham. Two hundred Boers who had hidden in the river jungles near Kromstad to escape service have surrendered to the British and taken the oath of allegiance.

How the Boers took Cronje's surrender.

The Daily News correspondent, A. G. Hales, who was taken prisoner by the Boers, and returned by them to Gen. Gatacre, sends his paper an account of how the Boers received the news of Cronje's surrender. Some who had escaped from Cronje's laager brought in the fateful news. The stolid looking fighting men broke down and wept like boys; great rugged bearded men dashed their rifles on the ground and gnarled them with their boots, whilst down their sun and wind-tanned faces the tears poured plentifully. Others stood leaning upon their rifles with hands hard gripped, until one would think the tightened muscles would leave their impress of the straining fingers upon the cold steel. Others again crowded together and looked dumbly from face to face, like cattle foregathered to the shambles. If Cronje had loved his country half as well as his country loved him he would have marched right on to the point of a British bayonet, on that morning so odious to the Boer arms and have yielded up his life in order that the memory of his name might have remained as a watchword on the lips and in the hearts of his gallant yeoman soldiery. Cronje had been to the Boers as a god fashioned out of marble. They found him at last to be only a man made out of mud; and when he fell the Cape Dutch cause and the Orange Free State fell with him. When he laid down his arms he launched a thunderbolt into the Boer camp which wrecked it forever.

Human Treatment Promised.

The war office has published a despatch from Lord Roberts, dated Kromstad, Sunday, May 13, giving the correspondence between Lord Roberts and President Kruger, relative to the alleged ill-treatment of colonial prisoners of war. The Transvaal's reply was to the effect that there was no difference in the treatment of the colonial and other prisoners, and that only a few who had contravened martial law, or who had tried to escape, or who, it had been suspected might try to escape, had been placed in jail for security. Otherwise they had been treated like the other prisoners of war. Regarding the fever, the government of the Transvaal said it was prevalent among the civil population as well as among the prisoners, and every remedial measure had been taken. Lord Roberts replied on April 23 that he was glad to receive President Kruger's assurance, but pointed out that no difference was made by the British authorities in regard to the Boer prisoners, against whom there might be reasonable ground for suspicion that they would try to escape, adding that such exceptions gave room for abuse by officials without the knowledge of the authorities.

Correspondents at the front agree in saying that the Free State has practically severed their military alliance with the Transvaal, though scattered bodies will doubtless continue to aid the enemy.

Cecil Rhodes has gone to Biara, Portuguese, South Africa.

Gen. Botha is reported to have threatened to resign if Boers would only destroy property.

A despatch from Cape Town says the Free State will be annexed by proclamation in a few days.

Reports seem to indicate that Buller has temporarily divided his force, one portion being despatched to clear the Boers from the Biggarsberg range while the main force engages the enemy on the Drakensberg ridges. A detachment under Dundonald and Bethune routed the Boers at Heilmannskamp, Cronje in captivity.

A despatch from Washington says The department of state in receipt of a despatch from the consul general of the United States at Cape Town, dated April 7, 1900, wherein he states that he has visited the Boer prisoners in camp, and on board the transport at Green Point. Mr. Stowe visited Gen. Cronje, who at the time was on board the flagship at Simons Bay, occupying the admiral's quarters. Gen. Cronje expressed a wish to see Mr. Stowe and declared himself well satisfied with his quarters and treatment. Mr. Stowe remarks that he talked freely with the other prisoners and the universal statement was that they were well cared for and were satisfied with their treatment. They were furnished by the British authorities with clothes, hats and boots, had good sea bathing; the rations of a British soldier, but as they have so many friends and relations in the colony, which the British prisoners at Pretoria lack, they became recipients of many presents of what may be called luxuries in a prisoner's or soldier's life. Owing to the conditions existing and the fact that St. Helena furnishes a climate more conducive of health, and more suitable quarters, the military authorities have deemed it best to forward about 1,500 prisoners to that island.

BOER PEACE DELEGATES.

The reception of the Boer peace delegates at New York is thus described by a despatch from that city: The peace envoys from South Africa to the United States, Messrs. Abraham Fischer, J. M. A. Wolmarans and G. H. Weesels, arrived here on the steamship Maasdam to-day. They were met by a committee, which went down the bay to greet them, and later they were greeted by a body of Boer sympathizers gathered on the pier at Hoboken, where the Maasdam docked. The mayor of that city extended a welcome to them and the party then took carriages for the Hotel Manhattan, where the envoys will lodge during their stay in this city.

The delegates were received by the general committee at the Hotel Manhattan and given a most cordial welcome.

The Boer delegates have received invitations to visit sixty towns and cities in the United States. They will also go to Washington.

GOVERNMENT SWINE SALE.

Plainsdealer: Friday's train brought the swine for the government sale. The officials in charge were: Mr. Honeyman, representing the department of agriculture at Regina; Mr. J. J. Foster, of Regina, Ontario, who had charge of the importation; and Mr. E. Bailey, of Lacombe, the auctioneer employed by the government. The swine brought through to Strathcona numbered 62 head (57 sows and 5 Boars) and were the last of the whole shipment for Alberta, 210 head. The breeds represented were Berkshire, Yorkshires, and Tamworths. The Berkshires were all bred at the Bay Park farm, near Brantford, Ontario—the leading farm of its kind in Canada. The Yorkshires were mostly bred by J. E. Brethour, the leading Canadian breeder of that class of swine. The Tamworths were also from leading breeders of their class. Of the five Boars brought in, four were Yorkshires and one Berkshire. The former were purchased by Maxwell Johnson and Harry Bell, of Edmonton; Thos. Stacey, of New Lannon, and Daniel Brown, of Spruce Grove. The Berk was sold to T. W. Lines. The highest price paid for any of these was $21.50, and the lowest, $19.00.

EDMONTON BULLETIN, MAY 21st, 1900

PARLIAMENTARY NOTES.

The supplies for the House of Commons and senate being about exhausted, Mr. Fielding presented to the House on Tuesday an additional amount to meet the necessary expenditures to carry on the work of legislation. In reply to Sir Charles Tupper the minister of finance said that the supplementaries for the current year would be down in a couple of days and the other some days later.

This being done, Sir Louis Davies proceeded to reply to Mr. Borden's motion to refer the West Huron and Brockville election cases to the privileges and elections committee. The minister of marine and fisheries said that no one recognized more than he did that it was through the ballot box that a stable government was to be secured, and therefore that punishment should follow those who interfered with a free expression of the will of the people in that way.

While this was correct care should be taken as to the punishment that followed and the mode of procedure. In this case parliament, in his opinion, acted hastily in referring the West Huron election case to the privileges and elections committee. The committee was not one to which ought to be referred a question of fact. Questions of law might well be referred to it. It was composed of the best lawyers in the House. The British parliament had withdrawn from that committee all questions of fact relating to contested elections because it was felt that partisan feeling would enter into the proceedings and overbalance all other considerations. At the privileges and elections committee there would be one set of members present to-day and a different set to-morrow. At no two meetings would the same members be present. There was no counsel present to watch and regulate the conduct of equity.

Coming back to the present case Sir Louis pointed out that parliament was now sitting three and one-half months. The member for Halifax (Borden) acted with great negligence, if he wanted the House to act, in not moving it before he did. The member for Halifax felt that he was blameable in this regard and therefore tendered an explanation. That explanation was that he moved it thirteen days after the House met and although too late to be dealt with by a motion, in that way this session he thought that the premier should have permitted it to go through as an unopposed motion. The premier had no more right over the matter of that kind than the most humble member of the House. When a member asked any motion to stand, when it was up as an unopposed motion, then the premier couldn't do anything else but say stand. When Mr. Borden wanted his motion to go through as an unopposed motion, Mr. Borden and Mr. McLennan both said to let it stand as they wished to talk to it, and the premier had to say stand. There were sufficient means in the courts to deal with all matters which would arise in connection with corrupt practices in elections. In the first place there was the Controverted Elections Act and in addition to that there was a statute passed in 1886 for the purpose of enabling any 25 electors who would sign a petition to get an official enquiry before the courts. If it was thought that there was corruption in any constituency then 25 electors could at once get an investigation by presenting of parliament to the governor-general sixty days after election and within fourteen days of the next meeting of parliament. The governor-general would appoint judges from the supreme or superior courts to make an enquiry. Within three months two statutes there were ample means for an investigation outside of what he held ought to be enquired into by the House itself.

Sir Louis was not going to say whether the West Huron case referred to the committee. It was enough that it was referred, but there was no evidence of any kind shown why the Brockville election case should have been referred to the committee. There was no charge against any returning or deputy returning officer. Something had been said in regard to a man named Pritchett, and Judge Morgan said of that man that he was a self-confessed liar. What that had seen in regard to the Brockville case was one man had been tried and acquitted, another brought up and afterwards discharged without a trial. No one would say that because 13 men had said they voted for McLean, and when the ballots were not found in the ballot box, that the fault lay with the deputy returning officer. Here Sir Louis pointed out that the only reason the case was referred to the committee was to investigate the conduct of officials. The seat of the member was not in question, and no one pretended that it was, although reports in the conservative press made it appear that the member was on trial and that they were investigating corrupt practices.

Sir Louis concluded: "I feel that I am acting in the public interest in relegating all parties who think there has been wrong doing or corruption at either or both of these elections to the courts provided by law, for enquiry into and punishment of those acts when proved, and I am strongly of the opinion that while the privileges and elections committee may be a most excellent tribunal for the elucidation of all points of law having reference to the election of members to this House and one well qualified to determine upon the legality of returns which returning officers may make of the votes received, it is a most inefficient tribunal from its frequently changing membership, the absence of counsel to conduct either prosecution or defence, and the impossibility of properly examining and cross examining the witness to reach conclusions on disputed questions of fact."

Mr. Powell, Westmoreland, followed. He said there was a conspiracy to steal the elections. He read an affidavit from Pritchett made in the United States, saying that he was in constituencies teaching deputies how to substitute ballots.

Mr. Britton, in reply, said that the conservative organizer, Barker, Hamilton, purchased this affidavit. Mr. Bennett replied.

On motion to adjourn the House Mr. Taylor read a letter which appeared in several French newspapers to the effect that discreditable news was expected from Antioch on account of the Fox Bay settlers showing no signs of their willingness to leave notwithstanding the offer which the government had made of transportation and land.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that the Fox Bay settlers had selected a plot of land on the shore of Lake Winnipeg or Lake Winnipegosis. The C. P. R. had at his instance agreed to carry them through to their destination and government would carry them to the C. P. R. station. They asked Menier to give them a respite for the judgment which he had got against them, but he refused. This was all the premier knew about it.

TREASON AT THE CAPE.

John A. Ewan, in a recent letter to the Globe, speaks in the following terms of the disaffection existing in Cape Colony, and the danger of this spirit causing disaster to British interests if the tide of war had not turned when it did.

I am thoroughly convinced that another repulse of a considerable British force would have set in motion a wave of rebellion in Cape Colony that would have been the most disastrous event in this war. The loyal inhabitants of the colony, men of English blood though they be, would have been a barrier to this movement. They are for the most part residents of towns and cities, merchants and clerks, and such like. Those who are not that are already in the field in the various colonial forces. The Dutch, on the other hand, are farmers, fearless horsemen, springbok hunters, the sort of men who go shooting partridges and snipe with a rifle, and are, therefore, ready-made mounted infantry of a superior kind. The up lifting of these men along the lines of communication would have been a disaster of enormous proportions. The British military authorities showed they recognized the danger by sending two columns converging on the breeding-ground of disaffection. The rebels show a matchless spot for the incubation of disturbance. Kenhardt, situated in the midst of a great waterless waste, seemed impossible of access to troops. By one of those ironical happenings that mock man and his shrewd calculations, the column has been stopped by an entirely opposite cause. During three days more rain fell than this country sees during the whole course of a year. The yearly rainfall is about six inches. More than that quantity fell in three days. Some years ago the bed of the river was dammed at a point where it runs through rising ground in the neighborhood of Van Wyk's Vlei. It was an ambitious scheme—too ambitious. It is now realized that if it rains every day in the year the reservoir would be full. It is fuller now than ever it was known to be before—fourteen feet six inches—and it extends back seven miles. The evaporation from this body of water under the ardent South African sun is of course enormous. Nevertheless it afforded us a sight that is rare in this British colony, namely, a considerable body of fresh water, bluish-colored, it is true, but nevertheless mostly water, the mud being but a subsidiary constituent.

INDIA'S FAMINE.

A despatch from New York on the 10th, says: Certain newspapers, having made the statement that Lord Curzon, Viceroy of India, had said no further help was needed in the famine, the New York committee of 100 on the India famine relief, sent the following cable to Lord Curzon: "Committee of 100 citizens formed here for famine relief. Newspapers report no funds needed. Cable fully at our expense." The reply received is as follows: "Simla, May 15—1900—William E. Dodge, chairman India famine fund committee, New York. So far from no more funds being needed, every dollar is of service in saving life. We have five and two quarter millions on relief. Many in destitution. All help gladly received. Signed Curzon."

A WORD ABOUT REPAIRS.

There is no article that is so closely associated with us as a Watch. It regulates all our business, and is either of the greatest value or no value whatever. A Watch must either be repaired properly or ruined, and hundreds of fine Watches have been utterly ruined by being repaired upon by unskilled workmen and apprentices. Having been at the Jewellery and Watch Repairing bench for the past 19 years in the most reliable shops in some of the largest cities of EUROPE, UNITED STATES AND CANADA, from which I have received diplomas and excellent references for my skilled mechanical work, which proves that I am sufficiently master of my trade, I make this class of work a distinct feature and give it my most scrupulous attention. All work entrusted to my care will be repaired expeditiously and in a superior manner, accompanied with a guarantee for twelve months. I shall do my utmost to gain the confidence of all who favor me with their patronage. One trial will prove.

Hoping to have a call from you, I remain, Yours respectfully,
S. NANKIN, Practical Watchmaker and Jeweller.

PARLIAMENT.

In a reply to Mr. Morin, Hon. W. S. Fielding, recently said that the loan of the G. T. R. mentioned in the public accounts of $15,142,633, represents the amount of debentures issued for the G. T. R. before confederation and has stood unchanged at these figures since. The rate of interest was 6 per cent per annum. No portion of either principal or interest has been paid to the government. The interest due as shown in the public accounts is not compounded. No interest has been charged against the company since confederation. This is included in the special account; $7,302 in the public accounts, one half year's interest to June 30, 1899, on $243,400, balance found to be due by the G. T. R. company on settlement of old differences. By the G. T. R. account of 1881 the claims of the Dominion were made to rank after common stock and the securities of the company. The present government are therefore precluded from enforcing these claims until after the holders of the company's common stock have received a dividend. In the meantime the company is entitled to receive any money that may become due to it from the government for service rendered.

In reply to Mr. Puttee, Mr. Fielding said that the government had under consideration the necessity of transferring printing paper to the free list, but no decision had been reached.

A bill was recently introduced by Mr. Sutherland, acting minister of interior, proposing to authorize the government to relieve from all liability endorser or bondsmen who have become surety for those who have received seed grain at different times since 1886. Where advances of seed grain have been made in the past it has been customary to require persons receiving the advance not only to give their homestead as security, but also to furnish bonds from two other persons. The result of this has been that not only the settler who received the advance, but his bondsmen as well have been harassed and in many cases subjected to what would appear unfair treatment in having their property of the indebtedness of another. By the proposed legislation it is intended to accept the liability of the person who obtained the advance only, and to relieve the bondsmen from all liability. The bill was read a second time on the 10th.

In reply to Mr. Clarke, Toronto, Dr. Borden said that the Allan line and the Elder Dempster people were the companies who transported the two Canadian contingents to South Africa. For the first contingent the company charged $35 per officer, $30 for non-commissioned officers and $22 for men and horses. On the second contingent the charge was 20 shillings per man and the company supplied provisions for the men, for which they will be reimbursed at reasonable prices.

Mr. Charlton called attention to the cable from Paris that stated that the Canadian exhibition was not to be closed on Sundays, while the United States exhibition building was to be closed. Mr. Fisher pointed out that the British portion of the exhibition was to be open and no exception could be made of the Canadian portion of it. He was not satisfied that the United States building was to be closed. Lord Strathcona and Mr. Tarte did all that they could to secure this matter. The only way that Canada should act was through the Imperial commission.

There was an hour's discussion when the House met on Tuesday on the adoption of the report of the debates committee. For years past there has been a great deal of trouble over the French translation of Hansard. The difficulty began in 1887 when the late Sir Adolphe Chapleau, then Mr. Chapleau, dismissed two of the translators for taking part in politics in Quebec. This introduced in the question of appointment and to get finally rid of this the committee now made all members of the staff stand an examination as to fitness. This was done and the result of the examination was embodied in the report of the committee presented to the House. By this report the name of S. Gelinas, who for 15 or 17 years has been on the staff, was dropped. Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that it was surprising to him that Gelinas was well qualified for the work although not so expert as some others and on account of his long service his claims on the government ought to be recognized. He had not spoken to any member of the committee on the subject, but laid the matter before them as it was told to him. The House adopted the report.

During the discussion of the bill to amend the criminal code, Mr. Puttee, referring to the clause which deals with conspiracy and combinations in restraint of trade, said that the section as it stood, according to the minister of justice, would place the trades or organizations at the mercy of any one who chose to set the law in operation. He protested against working men being deprived of the right they now enjoyed of combining for their own protection. He moved that the provision in the original bill that nothing in this section shall be construed to apply to combinations of workmen and employees for their own reasonable protection as such workmen and employees be reinstated. This was agreed to.

Dr. Borden introduced a bill to amend the militia act. He explained that the amendment was for the purpose of giving power to the government to appoint colonels. At present the highest officers that could be appointed was a lieutenant-colonel. The only exception was that the quarter-master general and the adjutant-general may be colonels. There was a demand for this in the militia. Dr. Borden pointed out that a great many gentlemen now were appointed honorary lieutenant-colonels of regiments, and it was thought that in the case of men of high position in this country it should be the same as in England. Besides there were members in the militia force who were well qualified to be colonels. The bill was read a first time, after discussion.

Mr. Fielding, in reply to Mr. Prior, said that the government had been considering the question of establishing a mint in Canada, but such a mint as Australia had would not serve the purpose of Canada. The coins of Australia were the same as that of Britain, but it would be different with the Canadian dollar of $5.

THE FREE STATE METROPOLIS.

Frederick Hamilton, the Globe's special correspondent at the front, has a splendid article in a recent issue of his paper descriptive of Bloemfontein. The following paragraphs give a good idea of the town.

"Heavy, flat-topped kopjes, tree-bespinkled beyond the woe of hills in this land, lie to the westward of Bloemfontein. Westward lies a flat and singularly level plain, curling towards into a tiny ridge, sinking then sharply into the spruit-thrashed hollow wherein nestles that most metropolitan of villages, the charming capital of the Free State.

"The oldest air of size sits upon the tiny town. Guarantee of bigness would seem to be assured by the market square, the heart of the town. The high-piled block of the postoffice looks lengthwise, over the antique Dutch market house in the centre, to the red-bricked Bloemfontein Club at the southern end of the long rectangle. The sides of the square are brave with hotels of surprising merit, banks, departmental stores, every token of the existence of a mercantile centre of no mean order. The Free State's business is done in this market square, and the Free State has been a remarkably prosperous and well-ordered little country. Around this centre the public buildings which mark a capital, and as one inspects them he realizes that the Free State has been efficiently governed."

The town numbers some 3,500 white inhabitants. Yet the curious aspect of size clings to the streets in which the handful of population dwells. Some singular skill in town building these Dutch and English Free State's must have, for they have combined elbow-room with compactness in a manner which eludes definition. Wide gardens surround the houses, yet the streets march methodically on in close order until the country is unexpectedly reached; none of the gradual scattering inseparable from the outskirts of the small town on the North American continent. Perhaps the individualistic jealousy which has reared a seven-foot stone wall, formidably spaced around each garden gives the look of continuity to the streets, with their air of grave self-consciousness and their sudden termination in the veldt or kopje side. Every indication of long-biased permanence, the town possesses, and yet it is old. The Great Trek itself is within the memory of man. Dutch singleness of thought; English alertness—the combination is pleasant enough.

Of the 3,500 white people who live here fully 2,000 are of our own blood and tongue. Bar Johannesburg, it is the most English town north of the Orange river. The business of the town is almost wholly in the hands of English-speaking merchants, and a few years ago, before this wretched race question arose, the English character of the place was still more pronounced. In the official world, too, English-speaking burghers were numerous, for the government which the Free State has kept up for the past half century has been fair as well as efficient. Blood is blood, none the less, and when the Free State threw itself into the campaign for Dutch domination, on which side would the hearts of the English burghers or residents go? The absolute obligation to military service, suitable, may, necessary, to a simple, primitive community, ever on its guard against aggressive savagery, in its unyielding universality, its unthinking commitment of power to leaders assumed to be the choice of an absolutely homogeneous people, fitted ill with the complexities of civilization, and commanding pressed hard upon men whose sympathies were already so sorely torn."

In introducing the Australia Commonwealth bill in the Imperial parliament recently, Hon. Joseph Chamberlain said the government proposed to introduce into the House of Lords forthwith a scheme to appoint for seven years a representative each of Canada, South Africa, Australia, and India to be members of the privy council, and who would act as lords of appeal. Life peerages would be conferred on them so that they would continue to sit in the House of Lords, although they would not act as judges after their term of service had expired. They would be paid the same as lords of appeal, and at the cost of the Imperial government. Mr. Chamberlain said the new constitution although in important respects unlike any now existing, more closely resembled the constitution of the United States than any other. State rights throughout were jealously preserved in Australia. The senate would be elected by the same electorate as the legislature, and the members of both bodies would receive the same salary.

Frost & Wood Machinery.

The year just past has been one of the most successful for Frost & Wood Machines, from the Atlantic to the Pacific. In every province of the Dominion their superiority over all competitors has been proven. Our output for 1899 was the largest in the history of our business, but the demand exceeded the supply by hundreds of machines. Our output for 1900 will largely exceed that of last season; and to endeavor to meet the constantly increasing demand, we have made extensive additions and improvements to our works and will be in a better position than ever before to serve our customers. We do not like to disappoint any, and hope to have machines for all, but to those who contemplate purchasing this year we would say

EAST EDMONTON.

Another of those conflagrations that by a little forethought and carefulness could have been prevented, was caused by a smudge fire. Mr. Gee, the other week got his barns and stables, about 150 bushels of oats, a horse, a cow and a pig, (not Strath), etc., consumed by fire. Mr. Gee only had the horse and cow a short time. It is to be regretted that he should sustain such a loss as he is a practical painstaking farmer. Other men should take warning and not build smudges near their stables. A word is sufficient for the wise.

With G. P. R. swine and government hogs, the farmers of this country should be in a fair way to improve their hogeries.

The spring work is on its last legs. There are a few patches too soft to work, but later on will do for green feed. The crops and grass are about three weeks earlier than last year and the mosquitoes are about six weeks ahead of time. They are worse and more of them.

HUTTON AND THE CANADIANS.

The lieutenant-governor of Manitoba has received the following letter from Major-General Hutton. It was among the delayed mails recovered from the wreck of the steamer Mexican:

Kimberley Club.

Kimberley, South Africa,

March 26, 1900.

My Dear Mr. Patterson:—If you have the opportunity, I should esteem it a favor if you would convey my deep sympathy with the relatives of the gallant Major Arnold, your late A. D. C.

I was deeply grieved to see that he had succumbed to his wound.

It is, alas! the bravest and best who as a rule, are the first to fall. Poor Arnold's relatives have the consolation of feeling that his loss was in a great cause, and that his name is never likely to be forgotten, but will remain always associated with the gallantry of the Royal Canadian when, in the eyes of the whole British army, they established their reputation as second to none in bravery and steadfast courage.

Everyone is full of the Canadian infantry, and in passing through London I had to explain both to Mr. Balfour and to Mr. Chamberlain how it was that a militia regiment from Canada could more than hold its own with the flower of the British regular army.

The war is by no means over, but three months should end the fighting.

With kind remembrances,

Yours sincerely,

EDWARD G. H. HUTTON,

Major-General.

I have been here for the last two days organizing a brigade for the new advance.

ABOUT PAARDEBERG.

In the Paardeberg fight some Canadians in taking refuge in the trenches were bayoneted by Germans, who mistook them for Boers. One Canadian describes his experiences thus: "We went into the trenches before the Boer hager. We had to go about half a mile to the end of the trench with our heads nearly touching our knees. We were under fire all the time by the snipers, and we improved our time by broadening and deepening the trenches. Then came the night attack. Our orders were to advance about 600 yards if we came upon no trenches. The front rank was to cover the rear rank, who were to entrench themselves, and they carried shovel and pick. The Germans were left in the trenches. The regiment advanced slowly, but of necessity there was a good deal of noise. After going about two hundred yards some of the men stumbled over some tin biscuit boxes which had been set up as a mark. The Boers at once opened fire upon us at about fifty yards from the trenches. Every flash looked as if it was pointed directly at me. We dropped like one man, and as we had strict orders not to fire no reply was made. I expected that we would fire a few rounds and then charge the trenches. But the order came to retire. For a few moments we were a regiment of sprinters, and I'll bet all previous records broken. I sailed off at my best pace for the trenches and fell into them before I could say anything. I landed on top of a sleepy Gordon, who with the help of a friend immediately proceeded to bayonet me. I explained hurriedly who I was, and got nothing worse than a gouge on the back of my hand and the side of the leg. My leg does not trouble me at all and I have the use of my hand now. It seems that we accomplished what was wanted, i. e., we drew the attention of the enemy while the engineers threw up an enfilading trench within fifty yards of their own on the river bank. Next morning they surrendered and Roberts in person thanked us for it."

LOCAL.

—Jas. Greer returned from the East on Thursday.

—Alex. Taylor returns from the east on Friday's train.

—Dr. Wilson returned Thursday from an extended eastern trip.

—Five rats arrived for Walter & Humberside's mill yesterday.

—The elevator of the Farmer's mill at the Fort is rapidly nearing completion.

—Edmonton basketballists play the Sturgeon team at Lamoureux's bridge on Thursday.

—Walter's ferry is running this season with W. H. Durdle in charge. The ferry will be operated all season.

—The Strathcona lacrosse club has accepted Edmonton's challenge to play at Strathcona on Thursday.

—Mosquitoes are exceptionally numerous and vicious this season, doubtless due to the rainfall of last summer and the hot days of the past month.

—The board of license commissioners for license district No. 8 meet in the office of W. H. Cooper to-morrow morning, when 25 applications for licenses will be considered.

—On Saturday before G. W. Gairdner, J. P., Matz & Muller, proprietors of the Grand Central Hotel, were charged by the license inspector with having a second bar. Case dismissed.

—In honor of Her Majesty's Birthday, the Methodist church yesterday was tastefully decorated with flowers and colors and a large portrait of Her Majesty was placed on the platform.

—A large consignment of brick is being shipped down the river in scows, to be used in the erection of a church at Onion lake. One load was sent down some time since and two more scows are now at Walters' ready for loading.

—Mrs. Campbell, of Fort Saskatchewan, has received a letter from her husband, A. W. M. Campbell, with the Mounted Rifles, written from Carnarvon on the 18th April. Mr. Campbell had been appointed transport officer with the battalion.

—The Mounted Police stationed at Fort Saskatchewan are preparing for a celebration of the relief of Mafeking, to take place later on. The programme will be a very elaborate one and will include exhibitions of outdoor athletic and gymnastic sports.

—The framework of the new public hospital has been completed and work on the brick laying is now well under way. The building, when completed, will present an excellent appearance.

—A consignment of hardware for Shera & Co., of the Fort, arrived last week.

—Dr. Robertson, superintendent of Presbyterian missions, is expected to arrive to-morrow night and visit the Galician colony at Beaver Creek during the week. On his return Dr. Robertson will probably conduct service in the Presbyterian church here, either Sunday or Monday evening next.

—A deputation from Strathcona, consisting of Messrs. W. McLaren, R. Ritchie and J. Wilson, met the Edmonton board of trade in a special meeting Saturday forenoon, to request the board to relinquish its claim to territory south of the river, in order that a board might be formed in Strathcona. The request was granted, the territory south of the 14th base line being released.

—In a list of the wounded in the first Canadian contingent appears the name of Gillespie Dickson. W. J. Gillespie Dickson joined the regiment at Nelson, B. C., and was formerly a resident of South Edmonton, where, some years ago, he was a partner of Wm. Wilkie, who is now also serving in South Africa as a trooper in the Mounted rifles.

—In honor of the heroic defence of Mafeking a supper and smoking concert, to which all local subjects of the Empire are invited, will be held in Hounston's Hall on Thursday's evening next, the 24th, at 9 a. m. A good musical programme is being prepared, and the evening promises to be more than usually successful. Tickets will be sold at Hallier & Albridge's.

—The news of the relief of Mafeking, so long looked for, was received here with every evidence of delight. A few minutes after going to press on Friday word was received to the effect that the town had been relieved. An extra was at once issued and folded in with the papers for outlying points as well as scattered through town by delivery boys. Flags were run up and rejoicing was general. As mentioned elsewhere arrangements are being made to celebrate the occasion in conjunction with the Queen's Birthday.

—Rev. J. Scott, of Victoria, is in town.

N. D. Lapierre, wife and son, arrived Friday to settle in Morinville.

—The directors of the Public hospital met in the secretary's office this morning. Accounts were passed and a vote of thanks tendered to Mr. McCauley, M. L. A., for his assistance in securing the passage of the bill incorporating the hospital.

—Jacob Hohn, and Christ Webber, from Nebraska, two land seekers, came in Friday night. They leave to-day for Beaver Hills hunting suitable locations for 30 families who will follow and locate in the fall if they are satisfied. They prophesy a large emigration from their state should those who settle here report favorably.

—On account of the condition of the roads, which prevented travel, the three Belgium delegates were unable to get to White Whale lake, which they had intended overlooking as a possible field for settlement for a colony of their countrymen. They returned on Friday and expressed themselves as pleased with what they had seen of the district.

—P. H. Phieles, and E. B. Wheeler, of Toledo, Ohio, came in from the south Friday after a land hunting trip around Buffalo lake. They tried to get beyond Fort Saskatchewan, but were unable to on account of the roads. Other families from their state to the number of 50 or 75 intend moving to Alberta to settle. They will probably choose Dried Meat or Buffalo lake as a location.

The Strathcona Horse have been sent to the front.

Preside J. Stays is now at Heilbron which is nominally the present capital of the Free State.

The Welland Vale bicycle works, St. Catharines, were burned on Wednesday. The works of the Canada Cycle & Motor Co., were also burned. The loss is $240,000, and 500 men were deprived of employment.

W. B. McInnes, M. P., has tendered his resignation, with the intention of entering British Columbia provincial politics. The step is reported to have been occasioned by failure to secure anti-Chinese legislation at Ottawa.

A Shanghai correspondent sends a sensational message regarding the revolutionary temper of the Southern China provinces, into which 20,000 Mauser rifles were recently imported. The mandarins, he says, are joining a movement against the Empress, and a spark may fire the train at any moment.

Correspondents at the front report that the Boer organization is badly broken up. Mr. Hellawell, formerly a correspondent at Mafeking, who was put over the Transvaal border, telegraphing from Lorenzo Marquez, Sunday, says: "Judging from talks I have had with the Boers, the end of the war will come in a month or six weeks. Mr. Steenkamp, chairman of the second road, who travelled with me, said that if the burghers were pressed from Pretoria they would retire to the district of the Lydenburg mountains, which had already been provisioned. He remarked that he hoped the burghers would stand firm, but feared they were too broken in spirit. I gathered from him that the whole available force of the Transvaal was now in the field, the final commanding having taken place, and that it is only the powerful magnetism of President Kruger that keeps the burghers together."
